The Alabama Master Teacher Experience (AMTE) program has played a role in developing faculty members at all 24 member institutions of the Alabama Community College System (ACCS) for over 20 years. The philosophical foundations that drive the professional development activities of AMTE are based on three basic premises set forth by Roger Garrison:

1. Excellent teaching takes place in American higher education.
2. Teachers striving for mastery of their craft have much to share.
3. Bringing teachers together in a relaxed, informal atmosphere to share their successes and their experiences enhances the skills of all.
