JEREMY CAMPBELL, ALUMNUS OF THE YEAR

Jeremy Campbell, Northeast Alabama Community College's Alumnaus of the Year, is an investigative reporter focused on impactful, innovative storytelling. In the past decade his work has changed lives, changed laws and reached millions of viewers.

He helped reinvent the formula for local news with "Atticus," TEGNA's first storytelling unit devoted to creating digital, episodic docu-series reports with a primary goal: Change the world.

"The Triangle" exposed a dramatic spike in heroin related deaths in Atlanta's wealthy suburbs. "Charlie Foxtrot" got the attention of Washington when Campbell presented the investigation to a special panel at the U.S. Capitol. The head of the VA cited that presentation as his inspiration for giving veterans a second chance at benefits. "Selling Girls" exposed the inner workings of America's sex trafficking industry. The U.S. State Department took notice, including Campbell in an educational tour for international journalists on how to tackle the tough subject matter of trafficking.

To tell a good story, Campbell has traveled from the coast of California to the South Lawn of the White House to the Nile River in Africa. He was among a small group of journalists selected by NASA to document the final space shuttle landing from the runway. He's covered controversy, tragedy and change - from the Casey Anthony trial and the Trayvon Martin shooting, to the 2011 tornado Super Outbreak across the South, Hurricane Harvey in Texas, to the Obama Inaugural in Washington D.C. and Trump campaign trail in 2016.

Campbell's reporting career began in the winds of change that blew alongside Hurricane Katrina. He created a documentary about New Orleans life after the storm that led to his first on air job as a Reporter/Anchor at KLFY in Lafayette, Louisiana. He's also reported for WBMA in Birmingham, WTVT in Tampa and is currently based at WXIA in Atlanta. He's appeared on CNN, FOX News Channel, MSNBC, The Weather Channel, CBS News and on stations in TEGNA's 39 markets nationwide.

Campbell is a National Murrow Award winner for Excellence in Innovation. He's been honored with 17 Emmy® Awards, four Regional Edward R. Murrow Awards, a Gracie, a Cronkite Award for political reporting and back to back Service to America Awards from the NAB. He's been named "Best Reporter" by the AP in Georgia, Florida and Alabama and is a three-time Atlanta Press Club Awards honoree.

Off air, Campbell is an Adjunct Professor, teaching Storytelling at the University of Florida's College of Journalism. He also serves as President/CEO of the National Academy of Television Arts & Sciences Southeast Chapter, where he's come full circle after receiving the NATAS Scholarship in 1998 while an undergrad at Auburn University. Campbell lives in Atlanta with his partner, Mike.

Campbell stated, "Northeast has been a part of my life from a very young age. I first enrolled in a computer science course as a kid. I must have been 8 or 9 This was in the 1980s, well before facebook, smart phones and even email. The school had a clear vision then of how crucial technology would be to our community. That's the magic of Northeast. It's always about ten steps ahead. Northeast looks out for your future by providing an education that's not only comprehensive, but is also relevant to the workforce.

"I'm amazed at the tremendous growth at Northeast, particularly in the past fifteen years. To me, the school is truly representative of the fundamental values of community. Everyone is welcome. Knowledge is valued. And no matter where you end up one day, there's a strong connection to where you started. At Northeast you develop wings and roots.

"My journey as a reporter has taken me to places I couldn't have seen coming - from the White House Rose Garden to the Nile River in Africa to a seat in the cockpit of the Space Shuttle Atlantis. Looking back, it's clear some of the very first steps toward all those moments were taken at Northeast."
